Thoburn Named Mayor By New Carmel Council

The Carmel political new year gavel, called the meeting to order, began last Monday evening in the city hall with a briskness that promises plenty of action in future meetings, and when the formalities of canvassing votes and swearing in new councilmen were over it found James H. Thoburn as mayor and commissioner of finance, Joseph Burge commissioner of streets, ex-mayor John Catlin commissioner of health and safety, Robert Norton commissioner of fire and police, and Bernard Rowntree commissioner of lights and water.

The evening began very early with the old council hearing first reading of an amendment to the new business license ordinance, and voting in favor of it, whereby firms operating prior to April 1st not less than three months nor more than one year would not be required to pay $100 when the ordinance goes into effect July 1st, but could figure their gross income for license purposes on a monthly basis.

Following this was the highly technical canvassing of votes under direction of city attorney Argyll Campbell, and when figures from the two voting precincts were given official approval by the council, there was considerable formality about tallying nine absentee ballots over which there has been so much speculation since the election. Because of the close race between Rowntree, Burge and Howard, interesting complications could have ensued in case of a tie and the need for another election.

Final figures gave Thoburn 448, Rowntree 328, Burge 326, Howard 321, and John Neikirk 215. Of the absentee votes, Burge got 8, Thoburn 7, Howard 6, Rowntree 4 and Neikirk none. The bonds got 7 No and 2 Yes, setting the totals at 276 No, and 237 Yes, with a grand total of 611 ballots cast.

The retiring council then adjourned, City Clerk Saidee Van Brower took the office of chairman and all the commissioners for the moment and the new councilmen were called from the audience to be greeted, sworn in and seated. Clara Kellogg, John Jordan and Herbert Heron therewith stepped out with brief words of appreciation from ex-mayor Catlin and applause from the crowded room.

As one keen observer said, "Six hundred ballots go into the ballot box and out come three councilmen," and it was the consensus of opinion that Carmel may well have confidence in the three and their relations with the two remaining in office.

The formality of electing a mayor was undertaken and James Thoburn, having received the largest number of votes, was voted into that position in accordance with the city custom. He took the heard two short communications and listened to motion for adjournment until 7:30, Wednesday the 25th, so that things were over by 9:30, an unprecedented hour for Carmel political groups to go home. Mayor Thoburn, a Stanford graduate who has done much engineering and construction work, and who is now in the real estate business, said that he contemplated no immediate changes in policy, but that he was giving much thought to what Carmel's development would be when the Coast Highway was completed, and how protection of its individuality might be maintained.

Bernard Rowntree likewise was not disposed to agitate immediate changes in policy or personnel. Joseph Burge was in similar mood, and so were the retained members John Catlin and Robert Norton. While there are no painters or sculptors among the five, it is nevertheless reasonably sure that the artistic beauties of Carmel will be amply safeguarded with these five business men in office.

EVENING MAIL SERVICE TO NORTH IS REPLACED

Acting postmaster Irene Cator announced on Tuesday that immediate resumption of the northern mail service nights would take place, following strong protests from individuals and business men upon discontinuance of the evening Southern Pacific mail train April 1st, through postal economy.

Congressman James McGrath had worked energetically in Washington to have the service renewed after numerous protests had reached him, and through his and the efforts of state postal authorities, chambers of commerce in the region and the like, arrangements to have the night mail carried by Greyhound Bus were completed.

Carmelites may now post mail at the 5:15 p. m. closing hour and know that it will reach San Francisco that evening for early morning distribution. It may well be noted here that other closing hours of the office are 6:45 a. m. and 12:15 noon, with 1:00 p. m. the Saturday closing hour for the entire office.

SCHOOL BOARD PLANS TWO MEETINGS IN MAY

The trustees of the Sunset School District will meet in closed session the evening of Monday, May 7th, for organization of the board following recent election of Mrs. Helen Levinson as new member.

Regular meeting will be the following evening, with routine affairs to be considered.

Women of Carmel Express Appreciation of Ex-Trustee

The women of Carmel, by the score—nay, by the hundreds—have joined in an expression of appreciation of the public service given Clara N. Kellogg, retired councilman and Sunset School trustee. A letter signed by more than two hundred resident women of Carmel was today presented to Miss Kellogg, who is about to depart upon a journey to the east, and in it is set forth the reasons for this tribute. The letter reads as follows:

Dear Miss Kellogg,
For your eight years of public service, beginning as trustee of the first Library Board, then as trustee of the Sunset School District and Clerk of its Board, and finally as member of the City Council, we, women citizens of Carmel, thank you and honor you.

We feel that as a woman holding public office you have justified and proven the hopes of those inspired patriots who first visioned the far-reaching influence of the woman's vote and her active participation in civic and public affairs.

Business ability, economy, tolerance, courageous rectitude and unflinching adherence to that which you deemed the public good, a courteous calm under opposition, selfless, earnest, untiring effort—these you have shown.

What you have accomplished we cannot reckon, for we believe that the benefits of your various trusteeships will show far beyond your term of office, but to two things we give present recognition. First, for the children of Carmel you have fought and labored unceasingly toward the most progressive and genuine education possible together with the most economic administration of funds. Your deep and real love for children has carried you through the difficult period of the School's expansion and growth, when new buildings had to be erected, playgrounds laid out, and many decisions made which would vitally affect the successful future of many hundred children and about which there was bound to be a difference of opinion.

Second, as a member of the City Council, you have undertaken and successfully handled a "man's job" in your capacity as Commissioner of Streets. The rock gutters and storm system you have installed, and the oiling of the streets, are a worthy achievement touching the convenience and comfort of the entire village. Without a car, often alone in your judgments, you have personally and untiringly inspected the condition of all the streets of Carmel. What you did not know yourself, you referred to experts, never failing to recognize ability in others and to confer with it, letting the City profit by it where possible. The streets themselves, better than they have ever been, and at less cost, are tangible proof of your efficiency.

With all your duties, you have found time to show your liberal and broad point of view, your appreciation for art and nature. A generous subscriber to music and drama, everywhere you have helped and supported the forward and cultural movement of Carmel. On school grounds, streets and park, one finds trees, shrubs and flowers which were propagated at home by you and your sister, and quietly transplanted for public use.

Library, School, City—all of us are the richer and the better for your impersonal, intelligent service.

list and upon reconsideration it did not warrant such outlay of what was believed that our population public funds.

Public School Week to be Featured at Sunset School

Public School Week, scheduled for April 23rd and 27th, will find many events of community interest at the Sunset School, beginning with a program on Tuesday evening, the 24th, and ending with a track meet on Friday afternoon.

Tuesday's program will include "The Significance of Public School Week," by Charles Watson, "Welcome to Parents and Visitors," by Principal O. W. Bardarson, followed by musical selections. The Orchestra will play Pilgrim's Chorus (from Tannhäuser) by Wagner, and Liebestraum (Nocturn) by Liszt, and the Verse Choir Selections will be Vespers, by A. A. Milne, The Ragged Piper, by Dana Burnet, and Tally-Ho! by Franco Leoni.

Group Singing of the 6th and 7th Grades will have Homelands Mine! by Beethoven, and a Song of Seasons, from the Hungarian. Tumbling and Acrobatics will then follow. Group Singing, from the Boys' Group, will give the audience The Vagabond, by N. Cain, All Through the Night, by Owen, and Serenade, by Tosti.

Orchestral and Vocal Ensemble will offer Finlandia, by Sibelius, and America, from Old Saxon.

Direction of the various groups will be Music, by Madeline Currey, Verse Choir by Mrs. Frances Johnson, and Tumbling by Mrs. Sara Rinehart.

At the close of the program the visitors are invited and urged to view the art and shop exhibits in the Lunchroom. Twenty minutes after the close of the program each classroom will be open to afford the parents an opportunity to view an exhibit of class work. Each pupil will have something on display.

Visiting days later in the week will be Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings. Monitors will receive the visitors, see that they sign the register and answer questions, so that the teacher may continue with the class work without interruption. A daily schedule will be posted as a guide to parents and visitors.

A student body meeting has been set for 11:20 a. m. (Friday, April the 27th. The pupils will present and discuss their own problems. The track meet is scheduled for 2:30 Friday afternoon, with two evenly balanced, the Reds and the Blues, competing in the 25, 50 and 75 yard dashes, the 300 yard relay, the shot-put, jumping and the hurdle race.

To all of these features the public is cordially invited.

PERMITS NEEDED FOR FIRES OUTSIDE THE CITY

Fire permits will be necessary from now until December 1st for all burning outside the city limits, according to Ranger Frank A. Moore, and these may be had by reaching him through calling Carmel 227, or application to Traffic Officer Charles Guth at the city hall, Carmel 131.

Moore says that already the country side is as dry as the usual mid-summer, and that unless extra precaution is used the county will have devastating fires. Cooperation on the part of campers and sportsmen is essential if the danger is to be kept at a minimum, and the helpfulness shown previously must be even greater this year to achieve the desired result.

FEW BIDS RECEIVED ON NEW POSTOFFICE LEASE

With bids on new lease for the post office closing today, there has been little interest shown by building owners in the matter of housing our postal service. Up until Tuesday only two bids had been received.

Concerning a new post office to be built by the government, it is apparent that for the present no such development will be made because Carmel was too far down the

COUNCIL FAVORS NEW BUSINESS ORDINANCE

The new business license ordinance received support of the city council upon its second reading at the meeting of last week, members Clara Kellogg, Mayor John Catlin, Herbert Heron and John Jordan voting in the affirmative, and Robert Norton not voting.

Following this an amendment to it was offered by Mr. Markham on behalf of firms which have been in business less than one year prior to April 12th, and which would be required to pay the maximum fee of $100 through inability to produce records of gross income covering the year. The amendment, which had its first reading at this Monday's council meeting prior to canvassing of the council election vote of the week before, provides that firms in operation before April 12th may submit figures based on a monthly income. Others starting after that date may pay under the old ordinance until the effective date of the new ordinance of next July 1st, when they will be required to pay the maximum and for pro-rata at the end of the fiscal year.

Considerable discussion centered around this amendment and the business license generally, but it is thought that affairs have been as fairly adjusted as possible under the bracket system of fees due the city.

A motion was passed to request the Southern Pacific railroad to replace the evening mail service to the north so that letters deposited in Carmel afternoons would reach San Francisco that night instead of being delayed until the following morning.

A curious technicality was brought to light regarding tree-cutting supervision. The Superintendent of Streets has been delegated by the council "with power to act" in the matter for many years, and now it is seen that the council cannot delegate such power but must act as a unit. For expediency the custom will probably be followed regardless of the statute books, and the usual care of our forested streets will be maintained legally or illegally.

Errors in the ballots of the recent election came in for scathing comment by Mayor Catlin, and it is indicated that future printing of such may be done in Carmel.

RED CROSS FIRST AID CLASSES BEING HELD

The First Aid Classes sponsored by the American Red Cross began on Wednesday and will continue for ten weeks, making a course of 15 hours that will entitle successful students to a certificate of fitness in this most valuable training. Meetings will be held every Wednesday at the Boy Scout House at 8th and Mission streets, the junior classes consisting of children under 16, who will assemble at five in the afternoon, the adults gathering at eight in the evening.

Dr. William I. Covault, appointed by Red Cross Headquarters, will be the instructor, and Hurd Comstock is chairman of the sponsoring committee. The only requirement is that every student purchase one of the Red Cross First Aid Text Books, now to be had at the offices at 7th and Dolores streets through Audrey Walton, and priced at sixty-five cents. It is hoped that these classes will be followed by classes in lifesaving, to be particularly adapted to Carmel as a seashore town.

HIGHWAY ZONING ADOPTED BY COUNTY SUPERVISORS

The County supervisors voted four to one at their Monday meeting in favor of the Coast Highway zoning ordinance submitted by the county planning commission after many months of study and listening to all phases of the question. The area controlled will be from the Carmel River to the southern limit of Monterey on the coast road, and aims at fair restrictions of signboards, buildings and types of business established within a certain distance from the line of travel.

Except for a strip through Highlands, and one in the Sur vicinity, which have already been controlled, the plan is to govern property within 500 feet of the road, and to restrict types of construction upon each of the business districts which may be at mile intervals depending upon area under ownership of one person, with setbacks of 20 feet from the right-of-way except where steepness indicates need for closer location.

Attorney Russell Scott represented a number of property owners of the affected region protesting the zoning and wanting very liberal regulations, if any at all. Attorney General Webb was cited as ruling against any restriction except as it operates in favor of health, public safety and the like, but Carmel Martin, chairman of the planning commission, cited other cases in support of the zoning. He declared furthermore that zoning was actually a benefit to property values, and would work no hardship on owners in the locality.

The commission has been working on the problem for close to two years, and all along it has maintained that no prejudice should enter into the question, but that sensible preservation of natural scenic beauty along what will be one of America's most spectacular routes was its one duty and purpose.

CHARLES O'CONNOR SINGS TO A CROWDED GALLERY by Hal Garrett

The tale that Orpheus moved even the stones with his music may or may not be true. But it is a fact that Edith Livermore, a San Francisco impresario, ran by two stop signs while driving the Irish tenor, Charles O'Connor, to Carmel—and all because she had asked him to sing to her. While writing out a ticket the traffic cop wanted to know what song had made her so forgetful. O'Connor obliged by singing a verse. "No wonder you forgot," murmured the officer, brushing a tear from his eye and tearing the ticket to bits. "But don't sing another note till you get to Carmel."

If you want to know how Spanish the Peninsula is you need only to recall the way Teresina, Spanish dancer, packed Sunset Auditorium. If you wish to know how Irish we are, you should have dropped into the crowded Denny-Watrous Gallery last Friday when Harpist Charles O'Connor sang the old songs of Erin.

As an Irish tenor Charles O'Connor turned out to be a delightful harpist, accompanying himself on the copy of an instrument as ancient as St. Patrick. But that is not the whole story. The charm this troubadour breathed into the lilting lay "Paddy the Piper" is something to be cherished in memory. More songs of this nature, light, brogueish, sung softly with a smile would have given this critic a memorable evening. However there were enough numbers suited to the vocalist's peculiar gifts to put over his program. And the audience liked it all. Several of the most enjoyable selections were given as encores at the end.

Among the celebrities present was Louis Mayer, New York sculptor whose bust of Lincoln won him wide recognition. Copies and photographs of his most famous pieces were on display at the gallery.

Patrons of the gallery are looking forward to seeing the name Denny-Watrous spelled out in lights on Carmel's Broadway when the Community Players open the place as a theatre sometime in May.

ACCLAIM GREET'S RETURN HOME OF "THE DRUNKARD" by Winsor Josselyn

"The Drunkard" came home last week-end and found all forgiven, all forgotten, and nothing but praise for his wayward career since leaving his birthplace of Carmel and going among city folks to make his fame and fortune.

At Del Monte he came back for two talk-of-the-town appearances with his cast of professionals and home folks, five of whom were in the original performances here two years ago. From an unknown play, tolerantly mentioned and then elbowed aside by important offerings it returned to pull the whole peninsula into the Bali Room to applaud, to hiss, to drink beer, to sing in the full spirit of the piece.

If the Hollywood company, which has been going for almost a year of sell-outs at the Theatre Mart, Ltd., puts on a better performance than the road company it will have to rate high priced words of reviewers, as the Del Monte cast certainly put the melodrama over with the balance between something that chokes cash customers with its arm-waving and scenery-eating and the lively acceptance of imperiled life-as-it-was. This company kept the balance. The audience looked and listened and fell for it wholeheartedly. A good, honest melodrama, and God Bless Our Home, or Everything Turns Out All Right!

Among the actors it is useless to select bright stars when there were so many who did noble work, so we will take the easier (and less dangerous) course of going down the list in order of appearance.

Lee Tevis and daughter Peggy

Converse proved that honest virtue will triumph over the villainy of Joseph Whitaker, and Lucien Jones and Blackie O'Neal were stout as oak in defense of them, even though Lucien had to go the way of the drunkard to find his salvation and the hand of Peggy in holy matrimony.

Connie Shuman, recovering from mental breakdown, earned happiness and gained revenge on villainous Whitaker, with Ross Cowen, Fritz Wurzmann, Norman McNeil and Lloyd Weer contributing factors, devious though their lives in the meantime. Philip Walker and Ed Files showed that bar flies may indeed be unmarked by the devil even though living in his haunts.

Mistress Patty Flynn, the poor little daughter, and Lee Van Atta, the bright boy who told all, carried juvenile roles most commendably. W. B. Williams, Norman McNeil, Louise Cowen and Georgian Good completed the noted cast.

Blackie O'Neal's Singing School after the show made staid America sing like Italians at a festival, and Peter Frederichsen's Animated Curtain came in for rounds of applause. Let the high-thoughters rail against entertainment that puts featherweight mental strain on the audience, but give us more of this hearty haw-haw and weepy offering for our theatre going. There's so much seriousness day-times at desks and bank windows that more plays such as "The Drunkard" are healthy diet at night.

Bring on more "A villain I have lived—a villain let me die!"

PEDRO LEMOS EXHIBITS AT STANFORD GALLERY

A collection of nearly fifty sketches in crayon and pastels made by Pedro J. de Lemos during a trip to Europe are being shown at Stanford Art Gallery until the 6th of May.

These sketches were made by the artist in periods of one-half to two hours each and have not been worked over since. The sketches depict interesting and historic street scenes, buildings and waterways, marine views and mountain scenes in Italy, Spain, France, Holland and England.

The method employed in these sketches was devised by Mr. de Lemos during a previous trip when he headed a travelling group of art students through Greece and Italy. The method has been since widely adopted by artists as a simplified sketch method, eliminating excessive sketch equipment and sketching time.

The group of sketches have been exhibited in galleries and art schools of the east and are now shown in the Stanford Art Gallery of which the artist is director.

The Art Gallery is open to the public without admission charge between the hours of 10 and 5 o'clock during every day of the week.

HOSPITAL FUND DRIVE WILL LAST TWO WEEKS

Beginning with the dinner Monday evening, the drive for funds got under way to enlarge the Grace Deere Velie Metabolic Clinic into a community hospital serving the entire peninsula wherein any reputable physician or surgeon might have access.

The goal is $25,000, part of which is to go into construction of a surgery, surgeons' dressing and scrub room, pre-delivery and delivery rooms, nursery, emergency operating room, receiving ward and the like, and part toward maintenance during the first year of operation.

The drive is in charge of Joseph Schoeninger, of Carmel, and committeees will meet each noon at luncheon to give results during the two weeks of the campaign. Some sixty-five active workers attended the opening dinner, and hearty co-operation is indicated on all sides for this work of creating a hospital offering services at cost to the general public.

RUTH BINGAMAN HERMAN IN PIANO RECITAL AT CLUB by Hal Garrott

Ruth Bingaman Herman, in her piano recital at the Presidio Officer's Club last Saturday, presented an unusual program despite the Bach, Mozart and Beethoven comprising the first half. The attendance was good considering every ticket was paid for, and enthusiasm was plentiful.

In the year or two since I've heard this pianist she has gained in firmness of touch, technical command and depth of musical expression. Her stage presence is gracious and attractive. In every sense Mrs. Herman is competent to appear as soloist with the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra in one of its major concerts. Ruth Herman is president of the large and growing Monterey Musical Art Club, represents the Presidio, and serves as director on the board of the Carmel Music Society. Her selection in preference to an outside star would tend to unite the musical factions of the Peninsula.

The high spot in Mrs. Herman's performance Saturday night was the Andante of the Beethoven Sonata Opus 57. This was played as sympathetically as I have ever heard it. The first movement, too, was poetically interpreted. The pianist's own composition "Ballet Oriental" proved an intriguing etude which equaled in interest the Ornstein encore.

The White Peacock by the great American composer, the late Charles T. Griffes, was played with inspiration worthy of this poetic composition. Other composers besides Bach, Mozart and Beethoven included Gaetner-Friedman, Paul Juon, Friedman and at the end, for dessert, a Blue Danube confection. Liszt's Liebestraum and the Ornstein Etude completed the encores.

DOUGLAS SCHOOL TO GIVE REMSEN PLAY

The Douglas School will give "Inchling," by Rem Remsen, for its annual play during the summer, the production being put on by Byington Ford. David Alberto will take charge of the musical effects, and practically the entire school will be included in the cast. Wide attention has been attracted by these plays, and last year's success of "Treasure Island" has given a precedent that the youngsters strive to better this year.

MRS. CHARLES DRAPER TO ADDRESS THE SOCIETY

One of the popular speakers on the Peninsula is Mrs. Charles E. Draper of Pacific Grove. She will tell of the attractions of the summer programs at Asilomar and the great value of the M. E. M. Conference next July, at the April meeting of the Missionary Society. The time of the meeting is 2:30 P. M. Tuesday, April 24th in the Community Church. There will be bandage rolling in the morning at All Saints Parish House for all willing workers.

KING CITY HOST TO LEGION CONFERENCE

The American Legion District Conference held last week-end at King City drew many Carmel veterans, included among them being David Askew, Floyd Mangrum, James Regan, Miss McLearn, Edward Soberanes and Ray Moore.

Caucuses and business sessions were cared for Saturday evening, and Sunday brought a morning parade with San Jose and Monterey drum corps as a feature. Novelty was injected by the flying pickup of membership rolls through courtesy of the Richfield Oil Company, thus sending to San Francisco Headquarters the completed lists before deadline. Monterey Peninsula Post No. 41 went over the top with its quota through the energy of membership committeemen.

Addresses included Child Welfare by Dr. Waters, of Watsonville, and Americanization by Archie Clausen, with solidarity stressed as the keystone of the Legion services for community benefit.

MANILA STRING ORCHESTRA COMING TO CARMEL, APRIL 18

We have had concerts of music of Norway, Ireland, Spain, Bohemia, Russia, and many other countries. Now we are to hear music of the Filipinos, brought to the Denny-Watrous Gallery next Saturday week, April 28, by Aspre violinist, and his Manila String Orchestra.

Festo G. Aspre is the foremost Filipino violinist and composer in America, according to Filipino ratings. He was the first Filipino artist to broadcast, playing over KLX in 1920. Since then he has played over nearly all the major stations, including KGO, KPO, KTAB, KFRC, KFI, KJH, etc., in Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Hollywood.

His musical education began with his father who, was the greatest Filipino violinist in the northern Philippines. He came to America in 1920, and was a favorite pupil of Signor Antonio de Grassi, and the only Filipino pupil of the eminent Russian violinist Borissoff. He appeared in a vaudeville circuit throughout the United States for three years, and then settled in Hollywood, where he worked in various studios, finally founding the Manila Motion Picture Company, and writing and producing the first Filipino talking picture, "The Rose of Manila," now running in Hollywood.

Rosita Lamont was the "glamorous star" of this film, a beautiful young girl born of Spanish parents in central America. It is this Rosita Lamont "in person" who will be the assisting artist in the Filipino concert on April 28. Miss Lamont was brought by her parents to the Philippines in the early days of her childhood. She was "raised" in Manila, and speaks and writes the Tagalog dialect fluently. Since coming to America in 1919, she has appeared in various Filipino programs and concerts, being considered one of their most distinguished exponents. During 1924 and 1925 she and Aspre toured on Pantages circuit throughout California in a very successful vaudeville act.

The nine members of Aspre's Manila String Orchestra, playing on their native instruments, the banduria, la-ud, octabina, guitar, and bass guitar will accompany Miss Lamont and Aspre in their solos, as well as play their own "symphony concert" of native airs.

Mr. White, Peter Pan Lodge, the Gallery, and all the Filipino agencies are selling tickets for this native attraction, being full of enthusiasm over the coming concert.

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED OF SUMMER PLAY SEASON

The prospects for summer plays at Carmel Community Playhouse, which have proved a great attraction to Carmel visitors, are more than usually bright.

"Following the withdrawal of Carmel Community Players from the Playhouse," says Edward Kuster, owner of the plant, "the Playhouse Association, dormant for two years, is undertaking to maintain the continued existence of the Community Playhouse as an institution. More than three hundred Peninsula families are already enrolled for the reduced family and guest rates, with additional names coming in every day. These registrations set up no obligation to purchase tickets, but they are a very encouraging sign nevertheless."

Besides the possibility of the first production of a new play by an important resident playwright, the Association is negotiating for the following late successes, of which we hope to produce three during the summer: "Biography," "Design for Living," "Time Is A Dream," "Alien Corn," "Ah, Wilderness," "Murray Hill" and "Both Your Houses."

Major production dates, aside from repeat performances when indicated, will be the weekends of July 4-7; July 26-28; and August 9-11.

As already announced in these columns, only bona fide residents of Monterey Peninsula will be given the advantage of family and guest rates at the Community Playhouse. Additional registrations will be accepted for a short period by Mrs. M. V. B. MacAdam, Secretary of the Playhouse Association, Box 823, Carmel.

CARMEL A. D. H. TEAM IN P. G. NIGHT LEAGUE

Entered in the Pacific Grove Night League from Carmel is the A. D. H. team, and in the lineup will be found Waldo Hicks, Buck Heeneken, Ban Handley, H. Hilbert, Walter Tuthill, Roy Goodrich, Gail Alderson, Chuch Proyor, "Fat" Rico and John Sheridan. The league will last for eight weeks, and has many fast teams that will attend the Carmelites to the limit to win.

Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties compose the organization, and the next meeting will be held in July in Carmel.

Especially interesting addresses were given by fire prevention experts, J. L. Waterman and Lt. Casserly, of San Francisco, following election of officers in which Elmer Anderson was made president for the ensuing year. What with dinner and entertainment, the Carmel group of firemen has a mark to equal when the July date arrives, and already plans are being made for the event by those in charge of the local group.

DALTONS BOXING IN KING CITY TUESDAY

Another card is billed at the King City Athletic Club for next Tuesday under Father Deschenes sponsorship, and will have Carmel's Bob and Frank Dalton as featured boxers, with Al Tyler farther down the list but nevertheless carrying Carmel Athletic Club colors.

Bob, at 117 pounds has developed a kick in both hands that is extending his knockout record, while Frank, at 147 pounds, is gaining decisions against some of the toughest boys in the north.

Manager Jack Dalton, head of the C. A. C., hopes to extend his circuit of tour with the boys until it takes in all the neighboring counties, and with his string of victories steadily mounting it should make this possible in the near future.

LOCAL AUTO DEALERS MAKE ANNOUNCEMENT

The Carmel Garage and the Berthold Motor Company announce this week that the Ford Motor Company will continue to sell the famous V-8 car without advance in price.

Most other makes of cars have recently announced price increases, it is pointed out, but Ford, satisfied with current business increases, feels that fair wages may be paid and a reasonable profit realized without increasing the price of his car. This without sacrifice of quality, since all features of the Ford V-8 will be retained as before and other improvements added.

Of especial interest is a fuel pump of remarkable efficiency and durability which has only recently been introduced in the Ford line. It is also pointed out that the V-8 is one of the most comfortable, roomy, and smooth cars on the market today... "the car without a price class."

CARMEL SHOP MOVES

The Little Shop in the Little House is moving this week from their former location on Lincoln Street to the little store East of the Library on Ocean Avenue formerly occupied by the Russian Tea Shop. An attractive gift shop, is this little store.

ADDRESS ON RUSSIA BY MADAME ORLOVA

Madame Harry Orlova, world traveler and international lecturer, will give an address entitled "Russia Yesterday and Today" at the Community Playhouse on the evening of Friday, April 27th, to be followed by a forum in which it is hoped that the many political beliefs of Carmel will be represented.

Madame Orlova's stage career has carried her through all parts of the world, and for years she has been a leading exponent of Plastique, the art that combines plastic motion and recitation. Marrying a Russian, she saw intimately the life of pre-war Russia, then the tragic war days and finally the revolution with its iron hand of the Bolshevik. Her artistic background, combined with appreciation of international political problems and easy manner of delivery give promise of a well-rounded evening, especially with Martin Flavin, the playwright, who has just returned from a stay in Russia, introducing her.

Tickets may be had at Stanford's Drug Store.

NEW EXHIBIT AT THE CARMEL ART GALLERY

A new exhibit started at the Carmel Art Association gallery on north Dolores street on Monday, succeeding the recent Black and White display. Over twenty-five oil paintings by member artists, carefully selected by the main committee, will be found upon the spacious walls, and many critics have commented that these comprise the most interesting exhibit yet held by the Association.

It will continue for one month, and Mrs. Nellie Montague, the curator, is at the gallery from two until five every afternoon in the week. Already the guest book shows visitors from far parts of the world, and Carmel as a cross-roads was never better demonstrated than by the geographical distribution shown here.

SUNSET SCHOOL NEWS

by Lee Van Atta

An Executive Board Meeting was held last Friday. The meeting was called to order by the President Dick Tevis. Plans were discussed for the coming "Public Schools Week," and other business was transacted.

The Seventh and Eighth Grade English Classes have just finished a "Picture Study Project." A picture is shown and then the class writes about the picture and the artist who drew it. This has proved to be a very interesting and helpful project.

The Seventh Grade Hygiene Class have been working out Health Posters, in the Hygiene period.

A number of pupils have recently come to Sunset. The attendance has been "fair" but it is hoped that parents will try harder to have their children in school every day except when sick or leaving the town.

MONTEREY HI NOTES

by Bob Scripture

The Miyamoto brothers again starred in track events at the invitational track meet held in King City last Saturday in which Monterey took third position in the heavyweight division and second in the lightweight division.

Gordon Bain also gained points for Monterey in the lightweight division.

Robert Kennedy, Carmel student, tied for first place in the entire school on the scholarship honor roll. Other students from Carmel in the first fifteen out of the complete roll of forty were William Millis and John Logan.

At special meetings of all the classes held last week for the purpose of election nominees to run for king and queen to preside over the April Circus, Phil Walker, Ralph Lee, and James Wilson were nominated for king, while Blanche Nielsen and Edith Castro were among the girls nominated.

In the citizenship or merit honor roll just announced for the third quarter Phil Walker headed the list for the senior boys; Bernice Trowbridge placed first for the junior girls; while Jean Stewart, sophomore, was the highest among the girls in her class.

Providing, however, that from and after the adoption of this ordinance no license tax or fee whatsoever shall be required of any honorably discharged or honorably released soldier, sailor or marine of the United States or Confederate States exempted from the payment thereof by any law of the State of California; provided further that each such soldier, sailor or marine shall upon application therefor, be issued such license free of cost upon presentation of a document or documents establishing his honorable discharge or honorable release from the United States Army, Navy or Marine Corps, or from the service of the Confederate States of America, and also upon the presentation of a certificate of a doctor of medicine licensed to practice under the laws of the State of California, certifying that such veteran is physically unable to obtain a livelihood by manual labor. Provided further that no such license shall be issued by the chief of police and ex-officio license collector of said city unless and until said chief of police and license collector has investigated such applicant and application as hereinafter provided with relation to hawkers and solicitors in Section 17 hereof. Provided further that no license fee shall be collected or any penalty for the payment thereof enforced against any commercial traveler whose business is limited to the goods, wares and merchandise sold or delivered in the state at wholesale.

Section 2. The payment of a license fee required by this ordinance and its acceptance by the city and the issuance of a license to any person, firm or corporation shall not entitle the holder thereof to carry on any business in or on any building or premises designated in such license in the event that such building or premises is situated at a locality in which the conduct of such business is a violation of any law or ordinance of said city.

Section 3: It shall be the duty of the Chief of Police and Ex-officio License Collector of said city to prepare and issue a license under this ordinance for the person, firm or corporation liable to pay a license hereunder, duly signed by said Chief of Police and Ex-officio License Collector, and to state in such license the amount thereof, the period of time for which same shall run, the name of the person, firm or corporation to whom issued, the business, trade, calling, profession or occupation for which the same is issued, and the location or place of business, trade, calling, profession or occupation for which the same is issued, and for that purpose the Chief of Police and Ex-Officio License Collector may confer with persons in interest and may require any person to file his affidavit as to the character of such business. In no case shall any mistake by the Chief of Police and Ex-officio License Collector in stating the amount or the terms of such license or the time for which it is to run, prevent or prejudice the collection by the City of what shall actually be due, with all costs, from anyone carrying on a business, trade, calling, profession or occupation without a license provided for by this ordinance. A record of all licenses issued under this ordinance shall be kept by the Chief of Police and Ex-officio License Collector, showing the date issued and all other particulars as required in this section. At the first regular meeting of the City Council in each quarter he shall make a report to that body showing the names of all persons, firms or corporations delinquent in payment of license fees for a period of ninety days or more, and the amount of same. But nothing in this section contained, however, shall prevent a criminal action as provided in Section 1 hereof, for any violation of the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 4: All license fees shall be paid in advance in legal currency of the United States, at the office of the Chief of Police and Ex-officio License Collector. No greater or less amount of money shall be charged or received for any license issued than is provided in this ordinance; nor shall any license be sold or issued for any other period of time than as provided herein. All licenses, unless otherwise expressly stated herein, shall be construed to be annual licenses and shall be due and payable on the 1st day of July of each year; shall be and become delinquent on the 31st day of July next thereafter; and shall expire on the 30th day of June of each year.

Section 5: Any person, firm or corporation having a license under the provisions of this ordinance and carrying on a business, trade, calling, profession or occupation at a particular place of business shall keep such license posted and exhibited while same is in force, in some conspicuous part of said place of business. Every peddler of goods, wares or merchandise, or any person driving or having control of any vehicle, wagon or automobile licensed under this ordinance, is required to carry his license in a license holder on the right hand side of such vehicle, wagon or automobile or to attach a number tag or plate to said right hand side of such vehicle, wagon or automobile, where it may be easily seen by third party, as designated and furnished by the said Chief of Police and Ex-officio License Collector.

Section 6: A separate license must be obtained for each branch establishment or separate place of business in which the trade, calling, profession or occupation is carried on, and each license shall authorize the party obtaining it to carry on, pursue or conduct only that business, trade, calling, profession or occupation described in such license, and only at the location or place of business which is indicated therein; provided, however, that the foregoing provisions of this section shall not apply to such branch establishments or separate places of business embraced within the provisions of Section 13 of this ordinance. No license granted under any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be assignable or transferable except with the approval of the Council of said city, and no person who surrenders a license shall be entitled to any refund on account thereof.

Section 7: The Chief of Police and Ex-officio License Collector shall have and exercise the power:

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"We also enjoy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement." These words from Romans comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will "Doctrine of Atonement." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "But go ye and learn what that meaneth I will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance" (Matt. 9: 13).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "In an age of ecclesiastical despotism, Jesus introduced the teaching and practice of Christianity, affording the proof of Christianity's truth and love; but to reach his example and to test its unerring Science according to his rule, healing sickness, sin, and death, a better understanding of God as divine Principle, Love, rather than personality or the man Jesus, is required" (p. 473).

Miss Betty Stewart of San Francisco has come to Carmel to live. She has stayed here for several summers and is now renewing the acquaintances that she had made.

GRATITUDE

Three people who have served Carmel long and faithfully retired from public office last Monday night. Clara Kellogg, John Jordan and Herbert Heron laid aside their civic mantles and became private citizens again. Jordan had served eight years on the council, two years of the time as mayor of Carmel; Heron had been mayor for two years and councilman for four years; and Clara Kellogg had been commissioner of streets, the most arduous of the commissions, for four years.

There have been very few times during the terms of service when these officials of Carmel's governing body have received any evidences of appreciation by the public for their hard and conscientious work. On the contrary, they have been more often maligned than praised. Charges of selfishness, stupidity and even of personal advantage have been made against them at times. More kicks than commendatory pats have been their rewards for service.

The gratitude of a Republic is an historic sarcasm. Civic appreciation of gratuitous service ranks with it. Few in Carmel could name a half dozen of the long list of men and women who have given of time and endeavor in the offices of councilmen, without remuneration, during the seventeen years since we became an incorporated city. They are unhonored and unsung.

The experience of the last city council, a majority of which stepped into private life last Monday night, is not unique. Every two years since that first election in 1916, the personnel of the council has changed materially, and usually by a majority of its membership. Attacks have been made upon the judgment and disinterestedness of every governing body in Carmel's history, with the result of dropping out those accused, and replacing them with new and untried people, who, two years later, are as unwelcome as their predecessors had been. Nor is there any hope for a change in that strange condition of affairs. This new council may expect no better at the hands of Carmel than has been the meed of its predecessors.

So let's give a hand to those who pass out, a cheer to the vanishing. Clara N. Kellogg, Bert Heron and John Jordan have done honestly by Carmel. They leave it a little better because of their efforts. They have given generously of their time and thought. It is shown in improved conditions. They have endeavored more for Carmel than they have achieved, but the failure is in Carmel, not

HIBERNATION

Tallac's right shoulder, rounding northward,
 Is the back of a fat beaver, crouching;
 To the left and southward slopes the long lean flank
 Of a young deer, leaping toward the sun.

But the massive, low lake-base is set
 Upon a tremendous dark forest-mat
 Of tamaracks and skirted firs,
 That inverted, make another forest
 Growing downward into wavering water.
 So roots have a double duty:
 To nourish a mountain, to rear twin forests.

The bonework of ice-wrought granite
 Lies in ridges, sparsely furred, flesh-sunken,
 Like the ribs of a hungry doe, after winter.
 The V-shaped valleys, the glacier-paths,
 Make gaunt empty sockets of torn shadow.

Tallac is a spent beast, wanting rest, seeking silence,
 Waiting to sleep, like a drowsy bear, honey-fattened,
 With a terrible, timeless fatigue of bone and muscle.
 It lies listening for the rising tide of storm
 To break in loud violence, to shake from sleek haunches
 Dizzy fragments of shattered fury,
 That falling, shall leave a white shroud of sanctuary,
 For the hibernation of blood and bone, tooth, claw and the tired spirit.

—Winifred Gray Stewart

THE SHADOW AND THE SUN

Tall people have a kind of leisureliness
 Not having to hurry to keep up the pace,
 And people tall inside have just that space
 To wait and hear the answers small folk press.
 So skies with bridges and with hills to stress
 The perpendicular outrange their race
 And seem to get a head up over space
 And look aloof from there on cloudiness.
 A river takes its time and length of limb
 And learns the earth before it makes a sound,
 About the elements that touch it dim.
 But then it tells conclusions large and round
 And I have heard it tell them to the sky
 And huge reflections unto huge reply.

—Reitza Dine Wirtshafter
 In "Poetry"

in them. They served during the most difficult time in Carmel's history, and carried on under conditions that tried the bravest souls. We owe them thanks—and remembrance.

NO TRADITION HERE

Before it does become a "precedent" or a "tradition," let's scotch this high-man-mayor idea which is being touted as the correct after-election proceeding in the council. It has neither sense nor tradition to back it. That the man who receives the most votes in the city election should become the town's mayor isn't reasonable, and certainly isn't historical practice.

Carmel has been a municipality since October, 1916—more than seventeen years—and has had ten city elections. At five of these elections, one of the new trustees has been chosen mayor. At the other elections, one of the hold-over trustees has been chosen. When the newly elected man has been chosen, it has usually had nothing to do with his vote, whether high or low man on the ballot, but has been done because he represented a majority faction of the council, in opposition to a minority. It gave the majority better control of the council.

Usually, and reasonably, one of the hold-over councilmen is better qualified to fill the chair of mayor—which automatically makes him commissioner of finance—than a newcomer to the board. Also, popularity at the polls is not good evidence of ability as mayor or as commissioner of finance. The selection of a mayor is not up to the people, but is left by law, to the council. The council is supposed to use its best judgment in choosing its presiding officer, not to decide according to the election returns.

Three councilmen's terms expired this spring. Two years from now, only two expire. Should the "traditional" idea hold as against a majority of hold-overs? That would not be reasonable, and it certainly would not be just. It would mean that a hard working and time-tried councilman never could hope to become the mayor of the village—an honor that every councilman has the right to look ahead to. No. This notion of "precedent" isn't either established or is it wise. It is not "tradition," and it is not good sense. We are not quarreling with the council's action last Monday night, nor have we anything but praise for its selection of the mayor. Only let's not call it an established precedent, or feel bound to do the same thing another time.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

Gordon Davis is coming down comedy, upon the Forest Theater and the summer season was a real event. from Stanford to direct a Community Players' production. It won't be the first time Davis has mixed into dramatics here. In fact he was once a prominent figure in the Carmel summer season of last year. This happened back in 1916, when we were taking our "Charlie's Aunt," that immortal open-air playhouse and Cyril were cast prominently in both productions. They were good, like machine-gun bullets, and it and as they were serving without required phenomenal effort for us pay, it was considered fair to let amateurs to keep in the same act them have a benefit performance with them. In the prompt-box, an of some play at the theater. harassed woman turned page upon "Charlie's Aunt" was their choice, page trying to keep eyes upon the for they had both played in it before. Also, it was considered a sure-fire box-office attraction. The protests of the high-brows were overruled, and the farce went on.

I had a part in the cast. Never before or since have I needed such speed in speech or movement. Cyril

But a large audience roared with merriment, and applauded liberally. "Charlie's Aunt" was a success, whether or not it was a desecration. In lists of the plays put on at the Forest Theater since its inception in 1910, "Charlie's Aunt" is omitted. Many have even forgotten that it was ever played there. But not the members of the cast.

Alvin J. Beller writes from Oaxaca, Mexico that he is driving through where the roads permit automobile travel, seeing the interior of the country. Beller is a Carmel artist, having shown his work at Denny-Watrous gallery last Fall. He is the son of Mrs. Clara L. Beller of Carmel. He is following the path of Henrietta Shore, Edward Weston and many other artists and writers, most of whom feel an inspiration to artistic accomplishment in the land of extreme contrasts.

Another of the Carmel oldtimers has achieved fame and fortune through literary work. Ethel Turner who was the guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. James Hopper has made a literary and financial success with her novel, "One Way Ticket," having sold movie rights to it following publication.

"One Way Ticket" deals with prison life from a new angle. Mrs. Turner's father was an employee at San Quentin for nineteen years and the book is the result of impressions received by her in a childhood spent just outside the prison wall. This was the first novel of a recognized poet. She will sail for Ireland in May to collect material for another book. Juanita Turner, a graduate of U. C. like her mother, and also having literary ambitions, will make the voyage with her.

A tense spot in Ethel Turner's adventure-filled life was the time John Kenneth Turner, the author of "Barbarous Mexico" was arrested down in Mexico. She somehow managed to arrange for his release. Mrs. Hopper tells of the good old days when Jack London, George Sterling, Ambrose Bierce, Bert Heron, Fred Bechdoft, Michael Williams and the Turners were among the writers to congregate here.

In those days George Sterling used to organize walks. Each person to go away by himself and bring home a cow skull to hang in the trees at his place in Eighty Acres. Opal Search has a symbol of a long walk in one of the trees there.

How many people can name the various mayors since the time of the incorporation of Carmel-by-the-Sea as a municipality? Probably not a dozen in the village. After work on the Carmel-San Simeon considerable consultation with the

What appeared to be heavenly flashes of light and was said to be anything from lightning to Northern lights which made its appearance in the South on Monday night proved to be electric welding going on during the night shift of the bridge.

Wood Cuts and Paintings Show Artist's Genius

NORTH ENTRANCE SKINNER HALL AT HOLYOKE
Woodblock by Abbie Bosworth

by Dora Hagemeyer

An exhibit of paintings and wood-engravings by Abbie Bosworth at the Denny-Watrous Gallery just now is attracting much attention. On seeing this work for the first time one is struck by certain clear cool quality of colour, pronouncing with sensitive preception the relationship of mountain and water, earth and sky.

Most of the painting was done in Norway. The rough strength of the fjords, presented through this young clear eyes had seen them aqueous light, is not diminished but rather enhanced. It is as if and recorded that seeing without any loss of clarity or power. "Troll Fjord" is such a picture. "Little Gloam Water" with its flaming autumn reflected whole in the mirror of the lake at its feet, and the towering snow-sprinkled mountains in the background has the same arresting clearness. The artist has come face to face with her subject. Her interpretation is direct and sincere.

The "Lutheran Church," a simple white building pointed against the sky is memorable for its suggestion of bare earth, work, and honest faith. The cloud-pattern which forms a grey net-work breaking before the light streaming from behind, presents a sharp contrast between the glory of nature and the severity of Norwegian life.

The high point of the exhibit, however, is the collection of wood-engravings. Here the artist reveals her unique skill. "Ice-bear," "Mt. Tom," and "Dawn" contain a sense of craftsmanship which promises to dominate the field. Abbie Bosworth has in this work revealed a glimpse of her great potentialities. It is probably this medium that will bring her to the fore. A sensitive knowledge of the living line, a power to reveal luminosity in mass, added to a natural vitality of perception, are her weapons for storming the citadel of the highest in her art.

COLLISION BRINGS LOSS OF DRIVER'S LICENSE

Changing her plea to guilty, Mary Ingels was given an alternate sentence in Judge George Wood's court on Saturday morning in a case growing out of a collision between a car she was driving and Traffic Officer Charles Guth on his motorcycle, and chose to give up her driver's license for six months rather than pay a fine of ten dollars.

The collision occurred two weeks ago at the intersection of 8th and San Carlos one evening as Guth was returning home, and sent him to the hospital overnight for examination. Fortunately he was not seriously injured, and the charges against Miss Ingels had to do only with driving without due caution. Riding with her at the time was Joseph Whittaker, Stanford student who was in Carmel to take part in "The Drunkard."

SERRA FESTIVAL TO BE
NAME OF AUGUST EVENT

It will be officially known as "The Serra Festival," and a suggested name for the pageant which will be given at the Mission, depicting episodes in Junipero Serra's life, written and starred in by the famous George Marion, is "The Apostle of California."

In the meeting held at Staniford's store last Friday, Father Michael O'Connell, Harry Dorney, George Marion and Don Staniford, who is general chairman of the Festival Week scheduled for August 24th to 28th, inclusive, the decision on names and discussion on fund-raising led to more concrete plans for work between now and the actual rehearsals.

There will be a series of entertainments to start financing the promotion of the week, and details will be given shortly concerning them. Suffice to say they will include the entire region and be of spectacular nature.

It was emphasized that there will be only one official program presented to merchants for their advertising, and that they should beware of wildcat schemes to sell advertisements from the outside. Just as careful attention will be given to zoning the area of the Mission against objectionable concessions, and to policing, to car parking and the innumerable elements entering into an event that will bring thousands to Carmel for the Festival.

Mrs. Thomas Bell of Pasadena spent Monday and Tuesday in Carmel.

Mrs. J. V. Cannon of Berkeley was a visitor in Carmel on Wednesday.

NO INCREASE in FORD V-8 Prices

Compare these DELIVERED FORD V-8 Prices with those of other cars in Monterey

Recently-announced, new, low delivered prices also remain in effect.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The Ford Motor Company has announced that there will be no immediate advance in Ford V-8 prices. Recently-announced lower delivered prices also continue without change.

This decision is of vital importance to thousands of people who are considering the purchase of a car this Spring. It means that the Ford car (already occupying a unique position as the only car under $2,000.00 with a V-type, 8-cylinder engine) now becomes an even more outstanding investment in transportation and in motoring pleasure.

Known already to thousands as "The Car Without a Price Class," the Ford V-8 now moves, further than before, into a class by itself.

Nationwide telegraphic response definitely indicates that Ford, already manufacturing America's fastest-selling car, will have to step up production even higher in April to meet a constantly-growing demand for the "Car Without a Price Class."

MODEL	Standard Price	Deluxe Price
